THIS WEEK'S OBJECTIVES

- Execute the SLOC High-Performance Coaching Conference on June 27th.
Expected result — Successful delivery of the technical education curriculum to national federation coaches, effectively utilizing the venue and support materials secured from SLOC and Panam Sports.

Success indicator — High participant turnout and positive qualitative feedback regarding the relevance of the information and the quality of the delivery.

2 Capitalize on the conference gathering to drive institutional alignment and athlete database onboarding.

Expected result — Increased willingness from coaches to formally register their athletes into the centralized monitoring system post-conference.

Success indicator — Verbal commitments and follow-up inquiries from coaches regarding the next steps for utilizing the technical monitoring ecosystem.

3 Consolidate the post-conference feedback to demonstrate project value to SLOC executive leadership

Expected result — Clear evidence of federation satisfaction that helps transition the methodologist program into a formalized, permanent SLOC pillar.

Success indicator — Acknowledgment from SLOC leadership of the event's high turnout and positive reception by the national associations.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The primary achievement this week was the highly successful execution of the June 27th Coaches Conference. The event saw excellent turnout, and qualitative feedback indicated strong participant satisfaction with both the technical information and its delivery. This success provides critical leverage to address our ongoing institutional challenges. Moving forward, we are utilizing the trust built at the conference to drive federation compliance for the Elite Athlete and Coaches Database. Additionally, we are pushing forward on our proposed solution to the athlete exposure deficit by seeking to activate the Panam Sports methodologist network for regional training camps.

INITIATIVE PROGRESS

National Elite Athlete Database & Support Project

● In Progress

HIGH PERFORMANCE

▲ 1 vs. last week

We are leveraging the momentum and trust built during the June 27th conference to drive database compliance. Our follow-up focus is now directly on guiding the newly engaged coaches to formally register their athletes into the monitoring system.

June Coaches Conference & Technical Education

● Completed

▲ 1 vs. last week

The conference was successfully executed on June 27th with a very strong turnout. Despite previous budget constraints on materials, the core objective was achieved: participants expressed high satisfaction with both the technical content provided and the professional delivery method.

PANAM SPORTS SUPPORT NEEDED

We request active coordination support to connect with other NOC methodologists. Facilitating these introductions is essential to begin organizing the regional, multi-country training camps proposed last week to increase our athletes' competition exposure.

CHALLENGES

● High priority ● Pending Follow-up COORDINATION

Having successfully executed the conference and generated strong federation buy-in, the immediate challenge is ensuring this temporary enthusiasm translates into permanent, systemic changes within SLOC's daily operations and federation compliance.

Action — Schedule a post-event strategic review with the SLOC President to leverage positive conference feedback to formalize the methodologist program as a permanent institutional mandate.

● High priority ● Pending Follow-up TECHNICAL

As outlined last week, local athletes (e.g., Boxing, Table Tennis) lack the competition volume required for regional success. We must move from identifying this gap to actively planning the proposed international methodologist-led camps.

Action — Initiate formal communications through the Panam Sports methodologist program network to identify partner NOCs willing to co-host or participate in preparatory multi-country training camps.

NEXT WEEK FOCUS

Priorities include post-conference follow-ups to drive athlete and coach registrations into the central database, conducting a strategic review with SLOC leadership to institutionalize the program, and initiating planning for the proposed regional training camps.
